I strongly urge you to reject Duke Energy's plans to build new gas plants in Catawba and Person Counties. Our state cannot afford both the public health costs that will result from increases in methane gas emissions from these plants and the substantial burden that continued growth in gas prices will place on rate payers, particularly, the poor. I think that Duke Energy would serve its customers better in the near future by investing in renewable energy technologies which have become cheaper and reliable over the past decade and will help to mitigate the adverse effects of global warming on our nation.
