On so many levels, it makes sense to develop rooftop solar and move towards a renewable energy economy. Duke energy's efforts to impede progress with clean energy technology simply make no sense for consumers or for our society at large. It is essential that we develop clean, renewable, localized alternatives to fossil fuel consumption, which is destroying our planet. It will benefit NC in the long run to be at the forefront of these positive changes rather than favoring corporate profits that don't serve the public interests. I urge the utilities commission to consider public interest and support rooftop solar.

Disgusting that Duke energy is attempting to stop consumers from using solar energy. I have had solar panels for 10 years and sell energy to Duke every month. Power bills are very low; increases resale value. Stop Duke Energy now!

NC Utilities Commission, North Carolina is past due for a shift in the profit-driven monopoly mindset that increasingly harms communities, drives up power bills, and makes the climate crisis worse. Many experts agree that local solar-plus-storage is the best tool we have to address the climate crisis. It is clear that the only way North Carolina can finally get aligned with the climate scientists is to rapidly expand local solar. All Duke Energy's residential, commercial and nonprofit customers can share in the costs and benefits of local solar much like we currently pay for polluting power plants – through the electric rate system.

please stop helping Duke block genuine solutions. My sister, who lives in Israel, has been using solar energy in her home for years with battery storage back up. Now by expanding the number of solar plates, she is helping to make additional power for the power company and making extra dollars for herself as well. It's a quick, cheap and most equitable way to to reduce reliance on fossil fuels. I do not understand why we still do not push more for solar energy. Please rethink your dependence on Duke Powers plans for expanding fossil fuels and building experimental nuclear reactors.

NC Utilities Commission, North Carolina is on the wrong path. Duke's plans to gamble on high-risk, super-costly experimental technologies and to greatly expand the use of methane gas for power generation will only raise electric rates and worsen the climate crisis. Please reject Duke Energy's monopoly-driven greenwashing and pursue climate solutions that work, like local solar-plus-storage! North Carolina has twice the practical space on rooftops, parking areas, contaminated brownfields and vacant land close to towns and cities to meet our climate goals. It is past time for a genuine clean energy transition in North Carolina – not more false solutions.

I am very concerned that Duke Power is promoting natural gas power generation, increasing carbon emissions while ignoring then sensible solution of carbon free locally distributed solar panels. Here in Durham where I live, there are hundred's of large warehouse distribution centers with literally hundreds of acres of empty roofs, that should be outfitted with solar panels. Distributed solar also has the advantage of providing power without increasing the load on distribution lines to the extent that centralized generation does. If Duke insists on promoting nat gas power generation, they should be required to lower their rates. It should be the responsibility of rate payers to support Duke's poorly thought out generation strategies.
