Duke Power or Progress or Energy has shown us they will not change their business plan for any reason - nevermind the climate emergency. They can no longer be allowed to lead this transition. Their hearts are not in the right place. Personally, I believe they all need to resign and make way for people who are willing to work and serve in the new world of solar and wind energy that God has demanded of us. I perfectly understand that you are not given the power to require them to resign, but you do talk to them. You know them. You can help them to find a new focus for their considerable talents and energy. A graceful resignation is better than an ignoble, disgraceful defeat. The new business plan will make Duke the proud stewards of the NC electrical grid (and wind farm). I can see the current leadership flinching from here. No, it will not suit them, that is why they have to leave and hand over the work to people who will be proud to serve NC in this way.

I oppose Duke Energy's climate-wrecking plan that still relies on fossil fuels. Duke Energy can do better! They MUST do better to avoid climate hell.
