Dear Chairman Finley,

I am very concerned about Duke Energy's plans to build a natural gas plant in Anderson, SC. I do not think hydraulic fracturing is safe. Duke Energy's recent - and long-term - history of polluting accidents should be taken into account by regulatory agencies. Duke Energy wishes to engage in a dangerous practice (fracking), in a non-transparent manner, acting as a business with a poor safety record, and it will then expect the rate-payer (me) to subsidize this. I urge you to do everything in your power to see that the NCUC conducts a full review of the Anderson, SC plant plans NOW, before it is built. Thank you, -- Willow Dees, Chapel Hill, NC
