Subject: Concern Regarding Annual Energy Credit Absorption

I hope this email finds you well. I am writing to express my disagreement with the practice of Duke absorbing all of the energy credits generated from our solar array on June 1st of each year. While I understand the importance of Duke's role in managing our energy resources, I believe this policy undermines the spirit of renewable energy initiatives and may not be in the best interest of our community.

Firstly, allocating all energy credits on a single day of the year seems arbitrary and may not align with the actual energy consumption patterns of our house. It could lead to inefficiencies and missed opportunities to utilize renewable energy effectively throughout the year. Additionally, such a practice may discourage further investment in solar energy infrastructure, as stakeholders might perceive their efforts as undervalued or overlooked.

Furthermore, I believe there is room for a more equitable distribution of energy credits that acknowledges the ongoing commitment of those who contribute to sustainable energy production. By engaging in dialogue and exploring alternative strategies, we can work towards a system that promotes transparency, fairness, and long-term sustainability for our energy initiatives.

Thank you for considering my perspective on this matter. I am open to further discussion and collaboration to find a solution that benefits all stakeholders involved.

Best regards,
