I totally agree with NC WARN and this church's position, Duke nor any other utility /electric company owns the sun. Duke energy despite their claims only cares about they income they are and will lose. Please do not support this law "prohibiting anyone besides major utility companies from selling electricity" I'm sick of hearing that powerful companies /corporations like Duke Energy has the Commissions or govt offices in the back pocket. Already heard that Duke was responsible for derailing a 2013 bill that would have allowed third-party solar, the same sources say the company is lobbying against a similar bill, called the Energy Freedom Act, proposed in March. It's 2 steps forward and 3 back. I've quickly lost faith in are entire election process as the money/corporations own our political system, lobbying by definition seems no more than a conflict of interest, allowing these rich corps/companies/firms to buy/manipulate/control our laws/decisions. I truly wish all politicians running for any office would only be given x amt of equal funding coming from our taxes, and equal amt of all ad and air time so no one has any advantage or chance for political gain. Most of us don'y really know who's running for office unless or until they are funded and backed by the big bucks. Please support the folks who are trying to use what we have, ie the sun, and save money, money we can desperately use for other things mainly in my case to put away for retirement. Enough from me before I completely go off topic. Thanks for the ear. G A Freeze

Please allow third party sales of renewable energy. We need to encourage production of this type of energy to help save the planet for our grandchildren. Supporting a monopoly like Duke Energy is also contrary to our country's longstanding principles of supporting competition.

We need to do all we can to get away from dependence on fossil fuels. That would encourage more wind and solar power and help to slow down climate change.

Thank you for your attention.

I am strongly opposed to fining the non profit group NC WaRN for selling solar energy to a church. It is inconceivable that the large monopoly DUKE feels so threatened that they in turn threaten the weak with perhaps the Utilities Commission assistance.

Please do NOT fine NC WARN for selling solar energy to a church in Greensboro. Please allow third party sales of renewable electricity in NC.

It is a no brainer that NC should promote renewable energies and allow third party sales of renewable energy.

Please do the right thing by NOT fining NC WARN and by supporting renewable energy in our once great state of North Carolina.

I agree businesses should complete on their own merits. But that also means businesses have access to all markets of their competitors. As Duke has a basic monopoly (I can't buy electricity from another utility) and is guarantee a profit margin (based upon rate filings), it seems Duke has enough of an advantage.

Please support and permit third-party electricity sales – such as the NC WARN solar energy electricity sales to a Greensboro church.

Conservative principles embrace limited government and this seems to be such a case.

Thanks.

Nothing better illustrates the abuse and accompanying societal and economic dangers of a legislated monopoly, than Duke Energy 's attempt to use the NC Utilities Commission to crush NC WARN. The provision of renewable , affordable electricity to Faith Community Church is not a commercial sale because the Church is a protected nonprofit , noncommercial organization. That provision of electricity does not infringe on Duke's distribution system or harm Duke in any way.

A monstrous legislated monopoly attempting to cut off electric service to a Church and crush renewables is abhorrent.

Please do not allow the NC Utilities Commission to become an accomplice to the Duke monster's jealousy.

That there is a law that allows Duke Energy to sue a small business that simply wants to offer affordable energy alternatives is unacceptable. Just as no good comes from big guys bullying small guys, time to get rid of laws that allow for bullying.

Commission Members:

I urge you to rule in favor of Faith Community Church in referenced docket. I am concerned with the power that Duke Energy has built in the energy market place through their acquisitions also coupled with their powerful allies in our NC legislative body. That legislative power was recently exhibited by their actions in the removal of subsidies for alternative energy. Duke's current efforts to eliminate NC Warn as a competitor in the market is not a positive move for our State. Duke should be supportive in the expansion of clean solar energy as an alternative source.

Dear members of the Utilities Commission,

My name is Sandra Johnson, I live in Huntersville, NC.

I strongly encourage you to allow third party sales of renewable electricity, and support the Faith Community Church and NCWARN. It's difficult for me to believe that supporting a monopoly in these times is even being considered, especially about something as progressive as renewable energy. If we don't look after our children instead of the pocket books of big business and what they can pay for support, we are terribly misguided. My age happens to be 75, so concern about myself is neither here nor there. However, I love my grandchildren with all my heart, and I cringe to think of the legacy we leave them.

Thank you for reading my comments.

Monopolies (Duke Energy) have no place in a democratic society, especially when they get in the way of progress.
This does not hold to conservative principles.
