Chief Clerk of the Commission,

In September 2012 my partner and I purchased 12 rooftop solar panels. The agreement at the time was that we would be enrolled in the net-metering program through Progress Energy which would result in an estimated pay-off time of 5 years. Between this program and the state and federal tax incentives we decided to invest the up-front cost of $19,000 to be able support renewable energy. Changes to the net-metering program would negate this arrangement. Contrary to what Duke Energy asserts we are NOT in the "high income" bracket.

We DO NOT support changes to net metering. This will kill job growth in the solar industry and will deter more individuals from adopting rooftop solar for their homes. Please oppose these changes!

Sincerely,
Susan Fisher & Helen Rentz

Chief Clerk of Court,

I am Charles R. Hayes. Last year I purchase a roof top solar unit in the amount of 24k. This purchase was made to invest in solar energy and reduce my living costs by net metering. There is no reason to change the current rules regarding net metering. Home owners and small business who invest in solar are vital to reducing the energy consumption in this country. Changing the rules will kill solar investments by all of the small business and home owners. Please deny the changes to the rule. The people investing in this will really suffer from losses from their investments and it does not interfere with the grid as they claim. It just is another example corporate bullying on the small business that is not necessary. Please deny this rule.

Thanks,

Charles (Chad R. Hayes)
